Message

It has been a comforting slogan: "The world is aging, but India has youth on her side". By the end of this decade, the average age of Indian population will be 29. As the result of this "demographic dividend", by 2040 a quarter of the globe's incremental increase in working population is set to occur in India. To convert this demographic dividend into a viable economic resource and to harness the latent potential of the human capital, education remains the most indispensable means. Bigger battles are won by better ammunition, better strategy and will to win. With our median age is much lower as compared to other countries. There comes a question how to use this vast amount of asset, and this could only be used to its utmost potential when our youth is well educated. It is time to be an active participant in New Age India. Skill based learning that is an urgent thing needed in our education system.

Students are the most progressive and important section of the people of a country. Students have a very significant role to play in the society of modern India. It is through their selfless efforts that India will tide over crisis and take her proper place in the world. Let us contribute towards this goal.

With Best Wishes

Prof. (Dr.) H.A. Pandya
